Dear Connie,
 It's been lots of fun being in homeroom with you + having you for a locker companion. Lots of luck in the future. Hope I'll be seeing you many times more.
 Bye now,
 Jim.

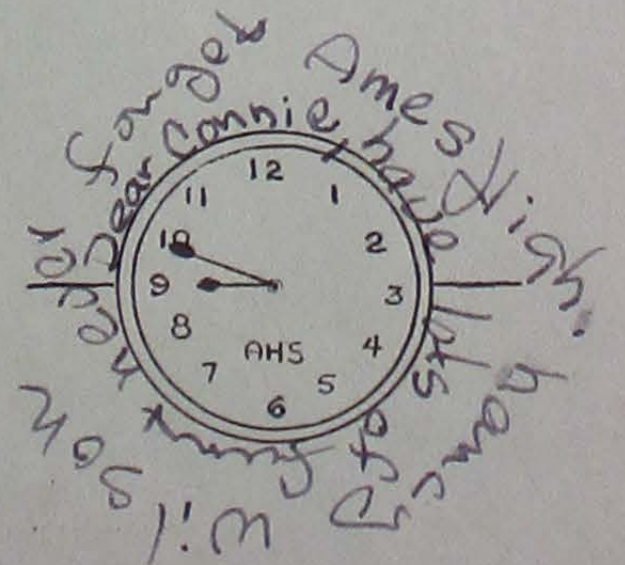

Connie honey—
 You have the most beautiful hair I have ever saw! Sometime I gotta get you out to a slumber party! Good luck and happiness always,
 Connie. You're so sweet

Administration

Principal and Staff

Behind the door marked "H. S. Principal" and through a small swinging gate and another door sits Mr. Herbert Adams.

Upon him falls the responsibility of administering the school. He is a combination backer, confidant, adviser and strong-arm man. Also, he's the voice on the public address system that keeps us up with events.

Co-ordinating all the curricular and extra-curricular activities into a smoothly operating unit and still maintaining a high reputation for the school is no mean task. He is the unseen hand behind many of the school's successful ventures deserving of credit.

Mr. Adams came to Ames from Le Mars when this year's graduating class was just beginning its high school career. He started with them and has been with them all the way, becoming well-liked by the class and everyone with whom he came in contact.

Between the small swinging gate and the inside door, Mrs. Margie Berglund reigns. Besides being harassed by people late to classes without excuses, and wheels running around during classes with no excuses, she acts as a private secretary, a stenographer and fills myriads of other detailed jobs. She's in charge of the office girls, makes out the weekly calendar, serves as receptionist, checks everything from cafeteria menus to truants' records and plays a hot game of golf.

Mrs. Berglund is assisted by the girls with her in the picture, who, she says, "are most efficient." The girls collect attendance slips, issue passes, type letters and in general make themselves handy. They also play hob with the boys that have a tendency to skip class now and then, as they are the hard-hearted souls who make out those little blue seventh period slips.

Superintendent and Staff

The superintendent's office has the important job of coordinating the Ames school system. This year Superintendent Watkins was assisted in his office by his secretary, Mrs. Grayce Elliott, and Miss Laura Sayre, who serves as stenographer to Dr. Watkins and as secretary of the Board of Education.

In the superintendent's office are filed the grade and attendance records of every girl and boy in the Ames school system. Reports from teachers and supervisors from all the Ames public schools are also on file.

All of the books and supplies used in the school system are ordered and distributed by this office. The monthly pay rolls are prepared here, and salary warrants are issued for the employees of the schools. All other bills are also checked and paid by this office. When the school term is over the office prepares and distributes the superintendent's annual report on the school system and the budget for the coming year.

This office also is in charge of the public forums, several of which are held throughout the year. The publicity for these speakers and forums is handled by the superintendent and his staff. These forums, mainly concerned with world affairs, met with great success this year.

★ Mrs. Elliot and Miss Sayre study up

Also held during the year was a number of adult evening school sessions. These classes offered a wide selection of activities, including typing, photography, woodworking, bookkeeping and various courses in home economics. This program was so successful that additional classes were formed in order to take care of the people who were previously unable to partake in the activities. Classes were held in the high school on Thursday evenings throughout the school year.

Due to its untiring efforts, the superintendent's office was instrumental in enabling the nine public schools to operate more efficiently.

Board of Education

The Ames Board of Education takes care of the administrative problems of the Ames Public school system. Keeping the nine public schools running smoothly, as well as placing teachers and approving finances are only a few of the tasks of the school board. One of their major problems is the successful handling of faculty appointments, a difficult undertaking in these days of teacher shortages.

The members of the board are elected for three year terms, arranged so that there will always be experienced members serving. The secretary is appointed while the treasurer is elected for a two year term. The board meets regularly on the second Monday of each month.

Members of the board this year are: William G. Murray, president; Frank B. Howell, secretary; Hiram Munn, treasurer; Frank Adams, N. J. Brintnall, Ray Cunningham, David Edwards and Dr. Steven N. Watkins, superintendent of schools. Mrs. James Johnson, the first woman to serve on the board in recent years, was elected in March to replace Dr. Murray.

School Health Department

"Take a deep breath. Hold it, please." And the man had taken a picture. Students found it fun to get out of class, run outside to a big smooth-looking truck and stand in front of a complicated machine. It was all part of a state-wide campaign to find tuberculosis in an early and curable stage by taking miniature X-ray films. High school teachers, janitors and ninth grade pupils were included.

Of the 453 X-rays taken, six high school students showed abnormal shadows. Enlarged X-rays of those six were taken a month later and the final report sent to the family physician. This program was carried out in cooperation with the Iowa State Department of Health, the county, state and national tuberculosis associations, the Ames Board of Education and the county medical society.

Public speaking students cooperated in the fight against tuberculosis by preparing speeches on subjects such as the first Christmas seal and detecting tuberculosis in its early stages. The best scripts were read over radio station WOI.

This was one of the special projects under the direction of the school health department. Also, every student was given hearing and vision tests. Athletic examinations were under the supervision of the nurse's office. Every sophomore was given a complete physical examination and any abnormal conditions were reported to the pupils and their parents.

To most students the nurse's office was the place where they were greeted with a friendly smile by the nurse, Miss Eva Lindgren, or the school physician, Dr. Kenneth C. Piercy, after they had been absent three or more consecutive days.

Doing its best to carry out the ideals of democracy throughout the school, this year's student council deserves much credit for organizing and directing school activities and promoting interest in them.

The eighteen homerooms in Ames High are represented on the student council by their presidents. Presiding over council meetings and representing the students as a whole are the duties of the student body president. This was the first year in the school's history that such an officer has been elected.

In addition to supervising school affairs and deciding on matters of general policy, the council was divided into seven committees to take care of specific duties. The assembly committee planned all assemblies for the year, providing a varied and interesting program. The awards committee approved all awards, as well as sponsoring three awards assemblies. One was held in the fall and one in the winter for athletics, and one in the spring for scholastic, band, vocal music and spring sports awards.

The noon-hour committee worked hard this year to provide for a well-rounded noon-hour program. Featuring volleyball and softball tournaments, the entertainment also included dances, musical assemblies and movies. The social committee handled open house as well as sponsoring matinee dances and the annual mid-citizenship committee. Every morning, noon and evening you could find a member of the service citizenship committee, which helps enforce the school's traffic and parking regulations. Every morning, noon and evening you could find a member of the service committee in the office at the lost and found desk. The publicity committee saw that all school events were well-publicized through the newspapers, over the sound system, and by posters distributed in the business district.

Officers for this year were Dave Bechtel and Norman Brown, president; Norman Brown and Bob Egemo, vice president; Nancy Neff and Norma Moore, secretary; Mary Pierre and Susan Tilden, treasurer. Faculty adviser is Everett Ritland.

Max Sowers, fire chief, pushed the students of Ames High around this year with the aid of Miss Miller, sponsor, and the rest of the "gestapo."

The duties of the fifteen seniors, twelve juniors and fourteen sophomores are subject to many whimsical remarks, but they are really essential. The junior and sophomore members are on duty in the halls from 8:30 to 8:45, 12:10 to 12:45 and 12:45 to 1:00. The seniors filled in in the absence of the underclassmen; otherwise, they loafed.

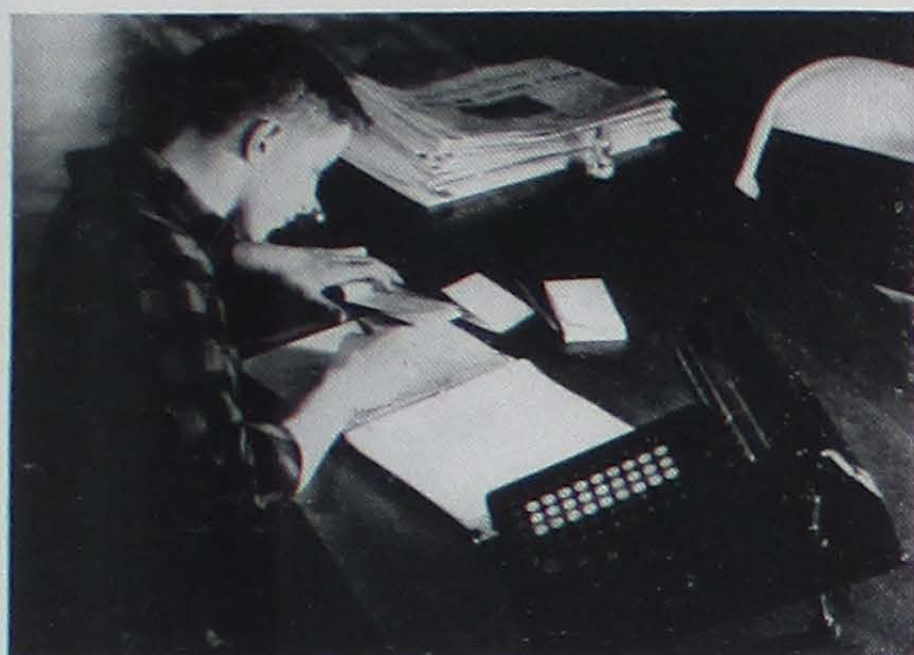

Regular meetings are held every Thursday noon at 12:35 to discuss the problems that are met during the week. Assignments for the following week are also issued.

Other officers are Ned Vifquain, assistant fire chief, and Dave Bechtel, secretary-treasurer.

Student Treasurers

★ Try the machine, Andy

★ Dulcie assists Miss McNally with the books

Ames High's monetary system is handled by this group of student treasurers. Every member is responsible to Miss Mary McNally, general treasurer, and Dulcie Severson, her assistant.

Duplicate cash books are kept by both the general treasurer and the students and are checked once a month so the few errors made are readily corrected. All money is kept in a general checking account. To make out a check the treasurer must write out a requisition, sign it himself, have his sponsor sign it and get Mr. Adam's signature. This accomplished, Miss McNally makes out a check for the amount specified. Every activity operates on a budget which it is supposed to follow as closely as possible. Activities which have no visible means of support are aided by organizations showing a profit from the previous year. Much credit is due to Miss McNally and the student treasurers for the success of their excellent financial system.

This type of training is valuable in developing business-like characteristics in the student treasurers. It is required of them to be exact and prompt for the books must be checked by the state auditor. It is essential that the treasurers be trustworthy, accurate and dependable because of the great responsibility placed in their hands.

★ Jean and Mary Jo at camp in Montana

The Junior Red Cross council, composed of one representative from each homeroom, was an active group this year in Ames High.

The annual membership drive netted $96 for the National Junior Red Cross. Over 100 Christmas boxes were packed for Iowa orphans and children overseas. Junior Red Cross knitters worked on afghans for soldiers in convalescent hospitals.

The council also worked on a scrap book about our community and nation which was sent to another country to promote international friendship.

During the summer of 1946 Jean Jones and Mary Jo Giese were sent to the Junior Red Cross district camp in Montana.

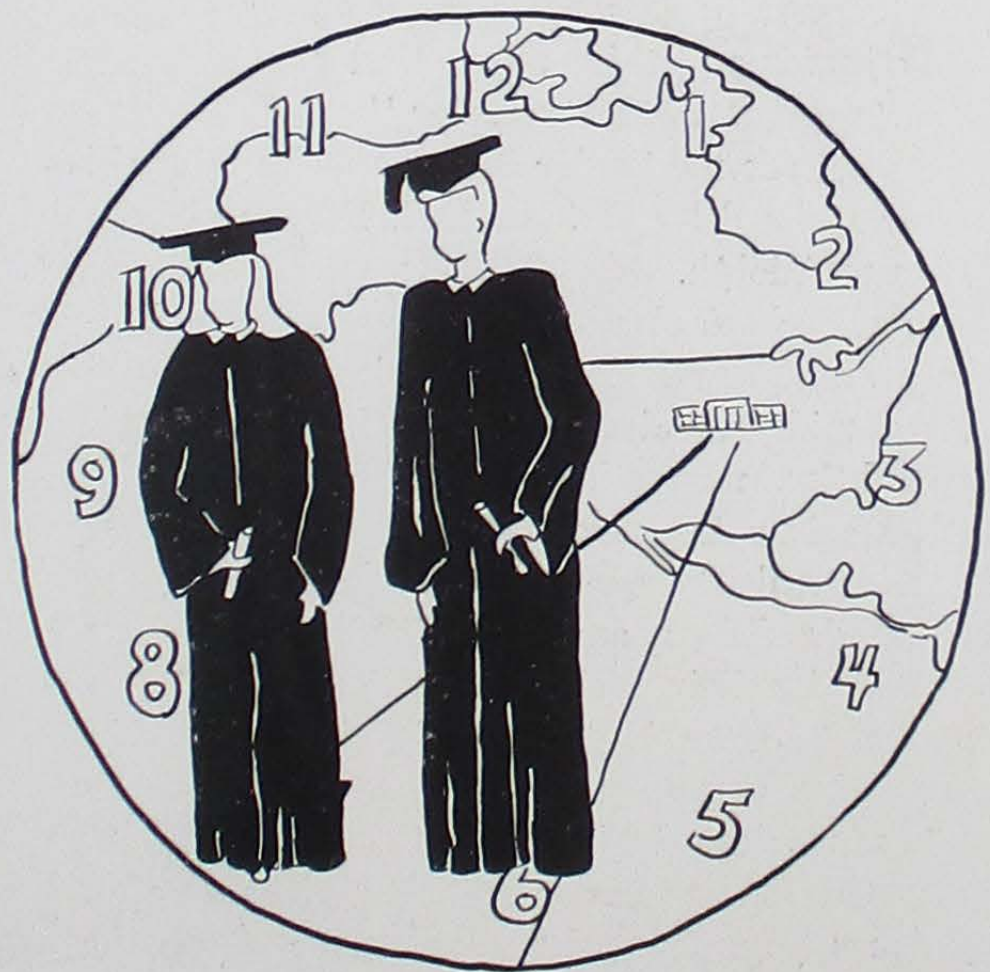

Sponsor of the council was Mrs. Elizabeth Dickinson.

Officers for the council were Mary Jo Giese, chairman; Wayne Brown, production; George Clark, publicity; Jean Jones, album chairman. Sponsor was Mrs. Elizabeth Dickinson.

The typical Ames High senior of '47 looks back to when he was a shy sophomore and then a gay junior and thinks how glad he was when he became an "almighty senior."

Sponsor for the Senior Senate was Mr. Ronald Easter assisted by Mr. Kenneth Page and Miss Florence Adolph.

An all school election chose seniors Ned Vifquain and Marylee Rushing as king and queen of the mid-year dance "Half-Time Holiday." Elected SPIRIT sweetheart was Phyllis Eschbach with Marilyn Townsend and Bobby Honsinger as her attendants.

Eleanor Johns and Bob McFarland were honored by being chosen among the twelve finalists in Iowa in the Pepsi-Cola scholarship tests. Eleanor was elected as winner of a certificate of merit and $50.

The conference basketball championship won by Ames High this year was due largely to the ability and effort of the senior members of the squad.

Chosen as the senior class play was Little Women, adapted from the novel by Louisa Alcott. This costumed play of the 1860's was directed by Omar Lett. The all-senior cast was as follows:

BACK ROW: D. Larson, Finholt, Miss Williams, Seaman, D. Moore

On that fatal day in September the junior class started on its merry way, showing its worth in many school activities. Class officers elected were Jack Grant, president; Forrest Barnes, vice president; Ann Barnard, secretary; and Betty Gulliver, who was appointed treasurer.

WAYNE CROSLEY

The tragic death of Wayne Crosley on January 14 brought to an end a life full of promise and left all who knew Wayne saddened. Wayne was a member of our class, a good student, a good companion, and everyone knows we have lost a valued and loyal friend.

Wayne stood for everything young and fine. He will not die in the hearts of those who love him and love the things for which he stood.

Sophomore Class

With renewed energy the combined forces of Central and Welch entered Ames High last fall as the sophomore class. As the year passed, sophs gained confidence and now are ready to take their places as next year's juniors.

In the field of athletics, Jim Robertson led the underclass by lettering in varsity football.

During the year the sophomores took active part in Hi-Y and Girl Reserve. Dick Fincham was elected president of Hi-Y, and many underclassmen served as vendors at games and worked on paper drives. At the annual sophomore fire-side Mr. Lawrence Simmering told of his experiences in the Pacific while in the Navy. In Girl Reserve many girls contributed by leading devotions and by assisting in similar ways.

"Trip" Busty . . . WAYNE SPANGLER

The entire production was under the direction of Mr. Omar Lett, dramatic coach.

This year for the first time Ames High school joined the Iowa City Forensic league. Advanced Dramatic club sent a one-act play Dawn to Iowa City plus three participants in interpretive reading, two in radio speaking and one in original oratory. In the play were Margaret Fowler, George Clark and Wayne Spangler. Interpreting eight minute selections were Patt Forsyth, Alice Ferguson and Frank Halden. Giving original radio speeches were Wayne Spangler and Margaret Fowler. Ted Schulz gave original oratory.

The Palm

The Palm is an honorary award for outstanding participation in play production. Each recipient of this honor is entitled to wear a gold pin in the shape of a Greek comedy mask with AHS engraved on it.

Beginning dramatics offered a chance for students to become acquainted with stage work. This being their first year they were not permitted to act in the Dramatic Club play but a large part of the actual work of producing the play was done by them.

Working on costumes for the play were Pauline Thielman, Phyllis Mathews and Delores Dryer. Jane Thomas and Ellen Pederson assisted with make-up, Mary Daine with publicity, and Beverly Summers with special effects. Barbara Judge, for a time acting head of properties, was assisted by Sheila Moore and Mary Sue John. All members of Beginning Dramatics helped build set and on the night of production many of them helped with the ushering.

During class period students learned stage terminology and acting techniques. Monologues were given by each member of the class and criticized by the remainder of the class.

Make-up was studied and from directions given by Mr. Omar Lett the students experimented on their classmates with straight make-ups.

Several of the class members worked on selections for the Iowa City Forensic league contest. Chosen to participate in the one-act play at Iowa City in April was Mary Ann Comstock.

Library Club

The Library club was organized in 1935 by Miss Ada Wood, who sponsored it until her resignation from Ames High in 1937.

This year, 1947, we have had two different teachers helping in the library, who have done a marvelous job in looking after it and the students who come in the library to use its books. At the present time we are very fortunate to have as sponsor Mrs. Dickinson. She has spent much of her time with the library and has done an excellent job in keeping it in order.

Each member, whenever free of class, works in the library. They do various jobs, such as checking books out, putting books in the right order on the shelves and filing books, magazines and cards.

A Capella Choir

Under the direction of Miss Edna Bower, the Ames High music organizations completed a very successful year.

Presenting their annual Christmas program, singing for community functions and open house, the vocal groups have won recognition all over Ames.

In the spring the choir held a tri-city festival with Boone at Fort Dodge. Dr. Harry Robert Wilson, of Columbia University, was the guest conductor.

Choir officers were Frank Halden, president; Mary Lou Butler, vice president; Shirley Morford, secretary-treasurer; Forest Barnes and Myrna Wilhelm, robekeepers.

Mixed chorus, which is for the purpose of training for glee club and choir, has as its officers Ann Barnard, president; Gloria Gould, vice president; Dorothy Maitland, secretary-treasurer.

Officers of the glee club, which trains girls to sing in small groups, were named as follows: Marilyn Pierson, president; Myrna Wilhelm, vice president; Verna Delle Rouze, secretary-treasurer; and Beverly Gore, librarian.

Members of the journalism class are responsible for writing and editing the Ames High Weekly Web which appears in the Ames Daily Tribune every Wednesday.

To take journalism, which is a regular one semester course in the curriculum, a student must be a senior who has maintained a "B" average in his junior English. In the class, under the direction of Miss Charlotte Nelson, students learn the fundamentals of news writing, interviewing and writing feature stories. Staff positions are appointed by Miss Nelson.

Playing up special features of local and international importance, these aspiring journalists learn that in this way they can have an influence on the thinking of Ames High students. One issue during the first semester was devoted mainly to articles and an editorial on the international organization, UNESCO. Following two motor vehicle accidents, one of which was fatal to a high school student, the staff made a special effort to emphasize safety.

During Thanksgiving vacation Miss Nelson and Mary Powers attended the National Scholastic Press association convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The second semester staff included Bill Allbaugh, Shirley Carter, Stan De La Hunt, Phyllis Eschbach, Patt Forsyth, Margaret Fowler, Jean Jones, Rita Stock, Bill Hippaka, Nancy Wilson, Bruce Gore, Marylee Rushing, Max Sowers, Dean Harper and Tom King.

Cubs' Club

★ Cubs hard at work on mid-year issue

Writing, making a layout sheet and publishing the between-semesters issue of the Web were the activities of Ames High's junior journalism organization, the Cubs' club, during the past year.

Cubs' club is open to anyone who is interested in journalism and includes sophomores, juniors and seniors. Printing the between-semesters Web was the club's major project and all of the other activities of the year were undertaken to prepare for this issue. One of the goals for a cub to work for was to have ten inches of his copy printed in the Web, which entitled him to be listed as a reporter in the weekly issue.

Counting every boy in high school among its members, Ames' Hi-Y started its busy year by helping with the newcomers' party and sponsoring the annual football banquet held at Lynn Fuhrer and two class firesides.

During the year the boys concentrated their efforts on writing letters and sending Christmas gifts to their adopted war orphan, Jacques Aufrey.

Outstanding speakers of the year were Commander Eubanks who spoke on submarine warfare in the Phillipines, Murray Allen and Ronnie Norman, a member of the Iowa State football squad.

The second semester found Hi-Y busily co-operating with G.R. in sponsoring Friendship Week.

Officers for the first semester were Ned Vifquain, president; Darrell Moore, vice president; Norman Brown, secretary; Dave Murray, treasurer.

Second semester officers included Darrell Moore, president; Dick Fincham, vice president; Dave Larson, secretary; George Lidell, treasurer.

Fiery remarks were again being tossed between the positive and negative sides of the Ames High debaters, after termination of forensic activities in 1944. Reorganizing under the sponsorship of Miss Edna Williams, they drafted a new constitution and elected the following officers: Ted Schulz, president; Helmut Seaman, vice president; Jo McCann, secretary; Bud Winfrey, treasurer.

"Eighteen or twenty-one, which should it be?" was the question argued by Margaret Fowler and Frank Halden on the positive side, opposing Helmut Seaman and Merle Eggert on the negative. A transcription of this program was broadcast over radio station KRNT's "Junior Town Meeting of the Air" from Ames High's auditorium.

Entering the contest offered by the Brindley discussion and debate tournament, which was held at Cedar Falls, the Ames High debaters disputed the question "How can we provide for the health of our nation?" From Cedar Falls, the debate club argued its way to the Iowa City Forensic club meet, where they again debated a health problem: "Resolved: That the Federal government should provide a system of complete medical care available to all citizens at public expense."

Crossing into the end zone for 194 points to their opponents' 37, the Little Cyclones had six wins and two defeats on their gridiron schedule. Losing to Marshalltown and Newton, Ames ranked third in the Central Iowa conference. The squad was under the leadership of returning Navy vet Ken Wells, assisted by Hi Covey.

Ames had three gridders on the Central Iowa all-conference first team: Howard Jensen, end, Stan De La Hunt, utility lineman, and Max Sowers, quarterback and team captain. Sowers was also on the I.D.P.A. first team for the second consecutive year and on Jack North's second eleven.

★ Sophs pile up against Boone

Showing the same fighting spirit as their upper classmates, the sophomore football squad defeated Jefferson, Webster City, Boone, and Nevada, lost to Marshalltown and East Des Moines, and had a tie game with Boone.

With Coach Olav Tiller as mentor, some promising varsity material was uncovered. Using the T-formation, plenty of speed and hard plunging was taken by the sophomores' opponents.

Jim Robertson was promoted from the sophomore team to the varsity squad, where he played first string tackle.

With the Little Cyclone cagemen winning eighteen straight games, it was the first undefeated regular basketball season in the history of Ames High. Under the mentorship of Ole Tiller, the Ames cagers made a clean sweep of the Central Iowa conference, besides defeating six non-conference foes—Nevada, Fort Dodge, Mason City, Waverly, Nevada and Sioux City (Central).

Individual scoring honors went to big Stan De La Hunt, captain of the squad, with 221 points. Stan was also top scorer in the conference with 121 points. Max Sowers was second in the team race with 132 points, followed by Ned Vifquain 105, Don Green 66, Bruce Gore 65, Tom King 49, Mark Rothacker 47, Dean Harper 44 and Bob Borgmeyer 10. The remainder of the scoring was done by the other squad members, Darrell Moore, Jack Grant, Norman Zenor, Jim Robertson, Marvin Munson and George Lidell.

Ames was honored by having several basketball players placed on the all-state selections. Stan De La Hunt was named on the first I.D.P.A. team. Honorable mention went to Mark Rothacker, Ned Vifquain and Max Sowers.

De La Hunt was also put on Jack North's second five, with Max Sowers on the third string. Ned Vifquain was named on the honor roll. Making the first All-conference team were Ned Vifquain, forward, Stan De La Hunt, center, and Max Sowers, guard.

Sophomore Basketball

With poise and stamina, the Ames sophomores completed their basketball season with eleven wins and four defeats. Those on the "w" side were Nevada, Gilbert, Newton, Marshalltown, Nevada, Boone, Story City reserves, Newton, Marshalltown, Boone and Slater. Defeating the sophs were Mason City, Melford, Luther and the Ames juniors.

Leading the scoring race were Dick Webber and George Lidell with 94 and 78 points respectively. Coached by Hi Covey the sophomores not only did much scoring, but displayed some fine ball handling that will come in handy in the next two years.

Seventy-four

Coached by Ray Smalling, who replaced Ole Tiller, the Little Cyclone "iron" men faced a heavy and rough schedule: Boone, East (D.M.), Des Moines invitational, Ames invitational, conference meet, concluded by the district and state meets.

Bill Martin was the only veteran golfer, but showing much promise were Charles Dodd, Bill Holl, George Turner, Dick Webber, Robert Morris, John Taft and Jerry Johnson.

Rankings on the golf squad were determined by medal play each week, with challenges of the preceeding man played by match.

Led by Bill Martin, the Little Cyclone golfers finished second in the conference golf tournament at Oskaloosa. Bill took medalist honors with a 74.

In the Ames invitational golf tournament the locals placed second, one point behind Roosevelt of Des Moines. They placed third in the Des Moines invitational and defeated East High (D.M.) in a dual meet, $8\frac{1}{2}$ - $6\frac{1}{2}$.

Ames fell to third in the district meet at Valley and failed to qualify for the state meet.

At the end of the season Bill Martin was elected captain.

The prospects for next years' team are good with three lettermen returning. Letters were awarded to Chuck Dodd and Bill Martin, seniors; Jim Aikman and Bill Holl, juniors; and Dick Webber, sophomore.

Tennis

Presenting one of the better tennis teams in Ames High for years, Coach Don Hartt had a bright outlook on the tennis season. With two new nets on the school's all weather courts, the "service" boys were out early to get in the swing of things.

Offering the netmen plenty of competition were North (D.M.), East (D.M.), Roosevelt (D.M.), Fort Dodge and Boone. The schedule was completed by the district and state meets the last of May.

Setting the pace for this year's team were three stalwarts from last year's squad—Terry Smith, Kenny Hartt and Bill Allbaugh. Pushing these lettermen were Bill Hukill, Bud Winfrey, Marshall Sclarow and Dean Harper.

Relieved of the worry of the shortage of tennis balls, the squad members determined their position on the team by playing matches each afternoon.

BACK ROW: T. Smith, Daley, Sclarow, K. Hartt

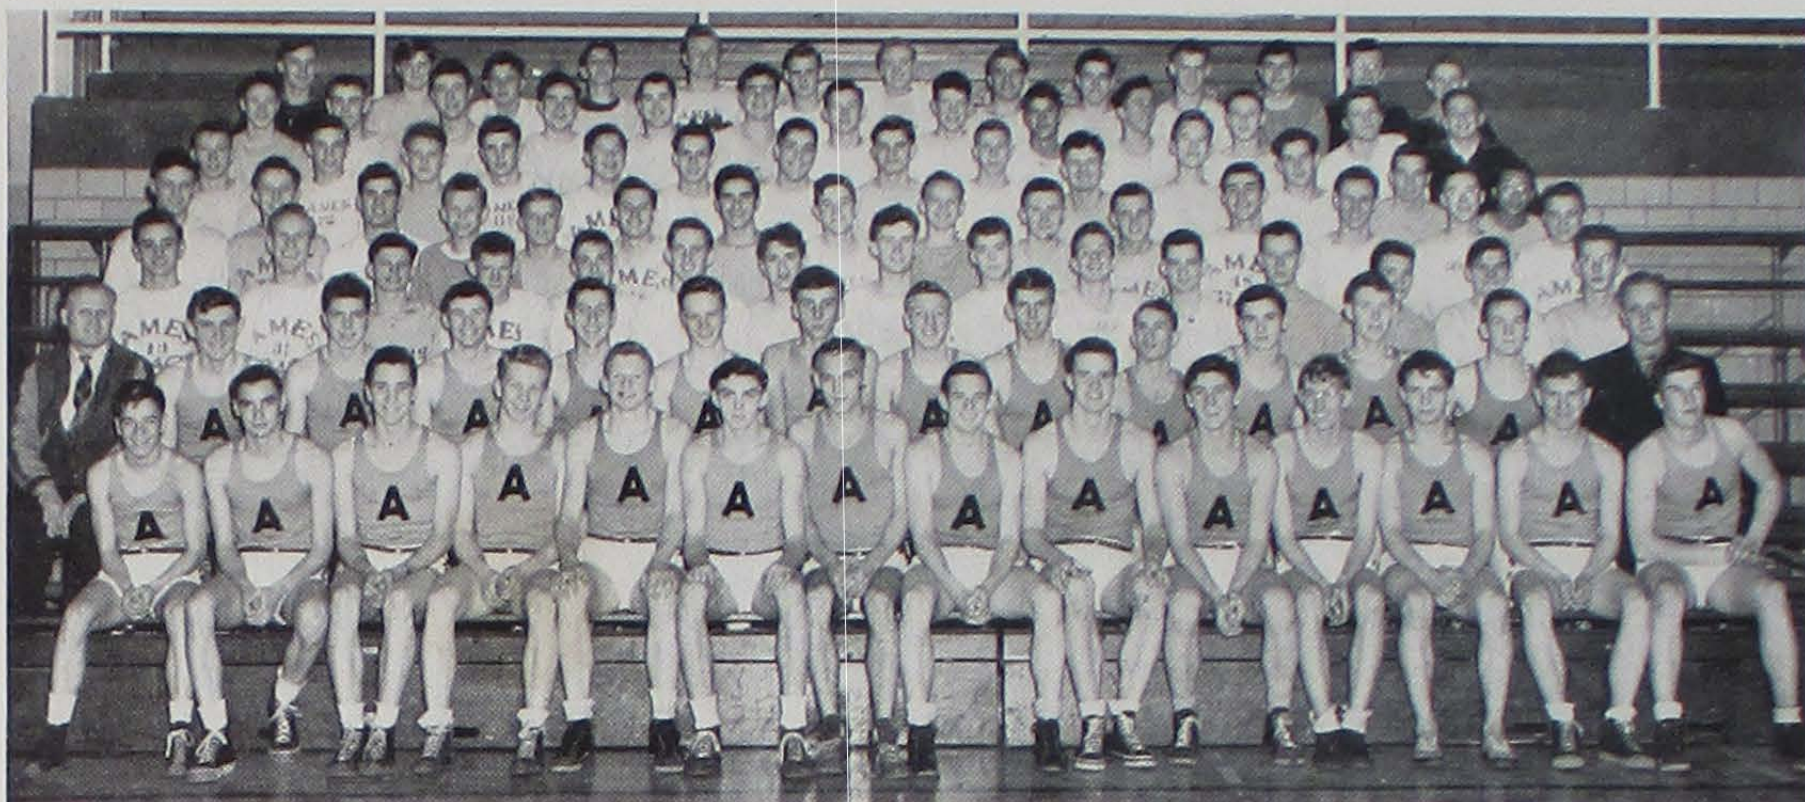

The team was undefeated in dual meets this season. Runner-up for the state championship was Terry Smith, who was edged out by Don Lewis of Fort Madison in the finals, 6-2, 6-0.

Track

Placing third in the state indoor and second at the Valley relays in Des Moines, the Little Cyclone cindermen were out to win this spring.

Stan De La Hunt, Don Green, Jerry Molleston, John Taylor, Al Bourne, Ned Vifquain, Hubert Bowers, Max Sowers and Bud Lackore are the nine returning lettermen who carry most of the burden for Coach Hi Covey's large track squad.

The track season is highlighted by the Ames invitational on May 2. This is the first attempt of this kind of meet in the school's history. Completing the schedule are the Drake Relays, Ames triangular, conference meet, district and state meets.

Under the direction of Kenny Wells, new Varsity club sponsor, the organization tried some new things and continued some of the older ideas of Varsity club.

The club, which all varsity lettermen may join, has two annual initiation periods. The first is the winter session when all football letter winners may join, and the other is spring when all other sports major "A" men enter the club.

Gathering names and addresses for the Little Cyclone News Letter was the outstanding job done by the group. Reviving the use of the parchment scroll that was kept from 1929 to 1938 is going to be done at the spring picnic, held at Homewood golf course.

Officers for the club for the year were Max Sowers, president; Ned Vifquain, vice president; and Stan De La Hunt, secretary and treasurer.

★ Words can't express a Varsity club initiation

Boys' Intramurals

Under the capable direction of Ray Smalling, Ames High's accelerated intramural program provided an outlet for the boundless energies of over 200 boys. Featuring this year's program is a grand trophy for each class to be given to the homeroom scoring the most points. Points are given on a 10-5-1 basis in touch football, golf, tennis, hunting, wrestling, ping pong, badminton, basketball, bowling, volley ball, track, tug-o-war, horse shoes and softball.

Helping Ray run things smoothly were head manager Terry Smith and his assistants Bill Hukill and Rogene Arney, timers and referees; Dick Martin and Elmer Warren, towel crew; and Dick Merrit, official recorder.

The intramural representatives from each homeroom formed a council which decided matters of policy, heard protests and picked all-star teams. These boys are Karl Aldinger, Ray Kooser, Bob Egemo, Bob Borgemeyer, Jon McClure, Fritz Munn, Bill Holl, John Dickenson, Rogene Arney, Jerry Johnson, Tom Kelley, Bill Daine, John Orth, Jack Dunlap, Lawrence Tripp, Leonard Paulson, Jim Winfrey and Dick Webber.

In the featured event, basketball, 236 swept through to the senior championship with a 13-2 record. 110 topped the juniors and 113 the sophs.

For the first time all-star teams were chosen in basketball. They are:

Seniors (first team) Howard Jensen, Jerry Molleston, John Daine, Commodore Litchfield and Max Larson; (second team) Bill Martin, Terry Smith, Fritz Munn, Ray Kooser and Chuck Dodd.

Juniors (first team) Jim Aikman, Ken King, Hubert Bowers, Stan Holland and Rog Arney; (second team) Dave Murray, Bill Daine, John Taft, Jerry Johnson and Bill Holl.

Gerry Hahn, Bill Byrus, John Orth and Ken Uhl.

As the final track meet ended the 1947 athletic season, Pep Club girls turned in their colorful orange and black jackets for probably the last time. Although the Pep Club will have new jackets next year, their pep will be the same.

Eighty

At the close of each school year eighteen seniors, twelve juniors, and six sophomores are elected to make up the next year's Pep Club. These girls are elected by the entire student body, and their choice is based on pep, school spirit and scholarship.

The officers for this year were: president, Shirley Carter; vice president, Phyllis Eschbach; secretary, Virginia Thorburn; treasurer, Bobbi Gross.

Cheer Squad, which is connected with Pep Club, is sponsored by Miss Robinson, who deserves much credit for the marvelous way she has handled the squad. She has given much time in helping with their yells.

Girls' Athletic Association

Girls' Athletic association is open to any girl in high school who is interested in it, and who is able to earn the membership requirements, a total of 100 points. To obtain these points she may participate in organized activities, unorganized activities, skill tests and leadership, and fill out health charts.

G.A.A. is an organization where girls have an opportunity to participate in different activities such as baseball, basketball, volleyball, soccer, ping pong, badminton, shuffle board and relays. Home rooms play each other, and the loser of the games has to give the winners a picnic which gives the girls a chance to meet together.

The officers for this year were president, Jean Jones; vice president, Pat

Smith; secretary and treasurer, Lee McFarland; social chairman, Sylvia Day; intramural chairman, Marilyn Beckley; point recorder, Marilyn Ethington.

Sweetheart and Attendants

Miss Phyllis Jean Eschbach was chosen Sweetheart of the 1947 SPIRIT. Miss Marilyn Townsend and Miss Bobby Honsinger were elected as her attendants.

Phyllis reigned over the SPIRIT Special held December 6 in the study hall. Carnation corsages were presented to the Sweetheart and her attendants by Bill Allbaugh, who acted as master of ceremonies.

A member of Pep club and singing a mean second alto in choir and senior sextette, "Phyl" has had several major roles in Drama club and class productions. She considers her part as Georgie in Harriet last year as her best performance. Her other parts were Patsy in The Patsy and Beth in Little Women.

Outside of school, Phyllis is an ardent connoisseur of fine music. She has acquired a large and assorted library of record albums; prefers Woody Herman and Bing Crosby and all kinds of hot jazz.

Phyllis was selected from an original group of eleven girls elected by the student body. The eleven girls besides Phyllis were Bobby Honsinger, Marilyn Townsend, Lyla Day, Janet Miller, Jean Jones, Susan Tilden, Marylee Rushing, Phyllis Jacob, Patt Forsyth and Alice Blanchard.

Three years ago the recreation center for the Ames high students was established. Many students turned in different names they thought would fit the center, and the one best liked was "Cyclone Center."

The Cyclone Center is a place where the students have the privilege to play ping pong, pool, cards, and dance, eat, make new friends and have social gatherings.

Our Center of today is located in the basement of the bandshell, which is just a temporary place until we have a permanent youth center.

The center has been sponsored by Mrs. Sutherland, who has done a splendid job of looking after the youth center for two years. Her job is not an easy one by any means, and she has devoted all of her time to the youth center and its members.

If we students of Ames High want a new youth center, much of the work is going to be left up to us to help with planning for it and getting it organized. Several business men and women are now helping us to locate a new youth center.

★ The late Spirit staff

Dear Connie,
Wonderful home in class.
Did you hear anything? Well, we had a good time anyway.
Good Luck.
Myona

 because you have to you - of good luck

 But the best (that I) the two - was more on the side
 every morning the record two seeing you on going to work
 the day
 Dear Anne,
